

AMERICAN MOPPIE, the latest of a long line of Bertram Moppie racing hulls, has been built by well-known American driver Peter Rittmaster to regain the world championship for the U.S. Held with an iron grip by the Americans since its conception in 1964, the title was won by Rome, Italy's diminutive ace Vincenzo Balestrieri last year. Proving that there are no gentlemen's agreements in the knock-down sport, Rittmaster, president of Bertram Yacht Company, will be out to take the title
