

The Bertram 46' Convertible. At Hydra she's known as a better cruising boat than most 'yachts'.

Her awesome reputation as a sportfisherman sometimes throws comfort seekers a curve. In the glorious Greek islands, they know there's nothing Spartan about her.

That she's as suitable for a bacchanal as billfishing.

Her owner's stateroom features oversized twin bedded and mirrored opulence. Her guest cabin has its own separate private head with shower. Her salon includes color TV, stereo with four speakers, and convertible quarters for two more. All standard.

Her unique galley plan packs Epicurean accoutrements like rotobroil and automatic icemaker up where the sun streams in, but out of the way of salon soirees.

Her cockpit could be 130 square feet of dance floor for Dionysians. Her flybridge suggests Priapian perchants with a sculpted-in sofa nearly eight feet long.

With all this, her strength is Herculean. Built to withstand trials few others can take. And Mercurial speed even fewer can match.

On any given weekend in season, from Mykonos back to Voulagmeni, you'll find more Bertrams hauling hedonists than any other brand you know back here. For a good reason.

The Greek word for it is repentire. No pain, no agony, no sweat. No matter what size or style Bertram you buy, from 28' up to our new 58' Olympian yacht.
